

Smoke Alarms SAVE LIVES!

Make sure you have smoke alarms that work.

The Fire Code requires working smoke alarm(s) in every apartment unit. Existing apartments require smoke alarms in the hallway outside sleeping areas. Newly constructed apartments now require them IN the sleeping room, as well. Remember to check the batteries once a month, and replace the batteries when you change your clock for Daylight Savings Time.

The apartment complex is required to have a fire extinguisher within 75-foot travel distance.

If extinguishers are not provided outside the apartments, then each apartment is required to have one.

Don't park in front of fire hydrants and don't park in fire lanes.

Respecting the fire restrictions may literally save your life. When friends visit, remind them to park only in appropriate parking areas.

Never leave smoking materials burning. Never smoke in bed.

In 2001, the most common cause of apartment fires was careless disposal of smoking materials in and around the complex.

Have a fire escape plan. Practice it.

Know at least two ways to get out of your apartment. Pick a family meeting place outside the apartment building. Don't use elevators (they may take you right into the fire).

Make sure there is a number on your apartment door, and a building identification number if required.

If there isn't, contact management.

Keep a copy of your apartment number and apartment building number, inside your apartment, near the phone.

The information will then be handy for babysitters, and it will be there if you panic.

Complex owners and managers need to be sure gated driveways are accessible to firefighters.

75-percent of multi-housing complexes are now gated. Work with the fire department to make sure access requirements are met.

Don't run extension cords under carpets or from unit-to-unit.

They can easily overheat. Extension cords are for temporary use only. They are not to be used as a substitute for permanent wiring.

Get acquainted with the elderly or those with special needs in your building.

If there is a fire, they may have extra difficulty getting out. You may be able to help them, or you can direct firefighters to the elderly person's apartment.

The Fire Code states that no person shall use fixed or portable barbecues in or under any attached patios, balconies, covered walkways or roof overhangs.

When in use, barbecues should be located on ground level and be a minimum of 10 feet from buildings, structures, covered walkways or roof overhangs.

What to do if There is a Fire

- Get out of the home or apartment.
- Once out – STAY OUT! Do not go back in for ANY reason.
- Call 9-1-1 from a safe location.
- Give the dispatcher as much accurate information as you can.
- Be sure the address is correct.
- Use your fire escape plan. Go to the designated family meeting place.
- Try to let neighbors know to get out. Help elderly folks, those with special needs, or families who have many children.
- Have someone meet the fire trucks when they arrive, if it can be done safely.
  - Keep the fire lanes open.
- If you can't get out, use a mobile phone to stay in touch with 9-1-1 dispatchers. Shine a flashlight or wave a sheet out the window to alert firefighters that you're trapped.
  - Stay calm.

Finally, pools pose a separate hazard for people who live in apartment complexes.

Pools must be fenced, and the gates must close and latch on their own. If children use the pool, an adult must always be inside the gate, in the pool area, constantly watching the children.
